

Rali Panchanatham

Since 1980, Rali has worked in the field of Information Technology with various industries in the US, both on the west and east coast. He has several years of hands-on software engineering and project management experience in development of web-enabled applications, including eCommerce, Client/Server systems as well as development maintenance, and reengineering of legacy software systems, in a variety of industries. After working for several companies including Citicorp, Star TV, and Casco Bank in Boston and Portland Maine, as well as Bank of America in Los Angeles, Rali joined Digital Equipment Corporation in 1988 to provide software consulting to various customers in Southern California.

After 4 successful years at DEC that included Excellence and Outstanding Achievement awards in 1989 and 1990, he launched SREE Consulting Services in Orange County and has been providing software services since 1992. In 1997, he merged his business with RAD Info Tech, a new software company based in Santa Fe Springs, California, and was successful in providing software services to a number of customers both in California and Alabama. In 2000, Rali joined forces with Steve Gray and Randy Wang to launch AmbaSoft, Inc to bring high quality software solutions to the customer as a value proposition.
